

How to make T-shirt Yarn

by Mandy McKenna 6ichthusfish.typepad.com

(1) Cut straight across the T-shirt from one underarm seam to the other. Cut off the waistband.

(2) Cut 1" wide strips straight across the T-shirt. STOP about 1.5" before the fold.

(3) Drape the T-shirt over your arm and insert the blade of your scissors into the first slit. CUT DIAGONALLY TOWARDS THE SECOND SLIT.

(4) Continue along, inserting the scissors into each slit in turn, cutting from one slit to the next, diagonally.

(5) Insert your scissors into the LAST slit and cut diagonally off the edge of the fabric.

(6) Go back to the beginning and cut from the edge of the fabric towards the first slit.

(7) You should have a continuous, long, flat strip of T-shirt fabric. To make lovely T-shirt yarn, work in 6" lengths, grip the strip and TUG HARD, giving about three tugs per short length.

(8) Tug your way along the length of the T-shirt strip, making a pile of continuous curled-up T-shirt yarn.

(9) Roll your T-shirt yarn into a satisfying ball! Enjoy :)
